

Obama And His Kiss Of Destruction

by Chris Alexander

Before Obama entered politics he has exhibited a destructive nature in all that he has done. Long before he ran for office he attended meetings shrouded in the destruction of our country. He attended meetings with Michael Lerner. Lerner published a magazine called Tikkun. The essence of the magazine & Lerner is the advent of Socialism, but with a twist. Lerner is for Shariah Law in the United States!

Obama has aligned with every radical, Socialist, & Islamic radical that you could imagine. Other radicals that Obama calls friend are David Alinski. David Alinski told Obama at the DNC Convention of 2008, “You have learned your lessons well.” A quote from David Alinski published in September 6, 2008 in the Canadian Free Press.

Prior to this Ali Abunimah was writing articles for The Chicago Tribune, calling for the destruction of Israel. Obama told him, “Keep up the good work.” ( Chicago's Hyde Park neighborhood meeting, 2004 )

Obama has many friends that are terrorists that have been documented by this author. Case in point, Hany Saqr, the head of the NAMB ( North American Muslim Brotherhood ). Also Hatem El Hady, the former head of Kindhearts. This was a Muslim charity that was aiding & abetting many terrorist organizations in 2002 before they were closed down by the FBI. Rashid Khalidi is another friend of Obama. Khalidi is a Professor at Columbia University in Middle East studies. He is very pro Palestinian and anti Israel. Khalidi supports suicide bombings against Israel and from 1976 to 1982 he was involved with the PLO as being their official press agent through Wafa in Beirut. Fund raisers were done for Obama by Khalidi in the elections for his Senate seat in Chicago. Another friend of Obama is Jeffrey Kearsse aka Siraj Wahhaj, an unindicted co conspirator in the 1993, WTC bombing case.

The list goes on & on regarding these types of people that Obama includes in his matrix of sociometry, all of which are presented to show the destructive nature of Obama. When Obama attended the G 20 Summit he was seen kissing Hugo Chavez, another radical that wants total Socialism in his country.

Obama's kiss is the kiss of destruction! Why? Because the election in Venezuela is today ( October 7, 2012 ), & Chavez will lose! Recalling when Obama visited several states in the past to campaign for Democratic candidates, everyone he campaigned for lost. Chavez is no different! The kiss of death for Chavez's political campaign was evident from the start aligned with Obama. The loss by Chavez will help loosen the grip of Socialism in Venezuela. This could help reduce the hold of Socialism in other countries surrounding Venezuela.

People in Venezuela want freedom & economic prosperity. Henrique Capriles running against Chavez promises a return to economic prosperity with the absence of Socialism. Chavez wants to be re-elected to further the Brazilian Revolution, as he calls it, to instill Socialism completely. It is obvious what the Venezuelan people have in their future!

Since Obama gave Chavez his backing with the kiss of destruction, it is evident that Chavez will eventually lose, even though he won the election. The way in which he won was questionable considering the lead that Capriles had & then suddenly it changed to where Chavez won. At the point where Capriles was winning Chavez claimed if he lost he would not leave office! Then shortly after that, Chavez said that he would accept the outcome. This quote was from the Drudge Report October 7, 2012.